

Chosen by American Hosta Growers, the Winners are...

2015 Hosta of the Year

Victory is an impressive plant. It forms giant vase-shaped clumps with large, shiny leaves with green centers and margins that change from greenish yellow in the spring to creamy white by early summer. This big hosta grows 30 in. high by 54 in. across and produces near white to light lavender flowers in the mid-summer. Touted for its smooth texture with thick substance, Victory is a great addition to shady landscapes.

2016 Hosta of the Year

2016 AHG Hosta of the Year will be Hosta Curly Fries. This is a novelty hosta with extremely rippled, narrow chartreuse leaves. The mature plants are peppered with red speckled petioles. Curly Fries is a smaller hosta, forming clumps that grow to 6 in. high and 16 in. across. Using this one in locations that receive morning sunlight will bring out the best foliage coloration.

Victory

Curly Fries